Now, an accredited university education is as close as your local church. Northwest University, based in Kirkland, WA, brings its top-rated academic quality and value (U.S. News & World Report) to churches through its new Church Partnership Program (CPP).

Combining the best of both worlds—NU’s passion for quality education with the vision and leadership of the local church—allows students like you to stay active in your church’s ministry leadership and internship programs while simultaneously earning your degree.

AVAILABLE DEGREES

- Bachelor of Arts in Ministry Leadership
- Associate Degree in Ministry Leadership
- Associate in Arts
- Certificate in Ministry Leadership

While earning your degree, you’ll be able to apply what you learn to real-life situations in your day-to-day ministry activities. Financial aid is available, and Northwest University is accredited by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities (NWCCU), the same level of accreditation as all major U.S. universities, so you can have confidence in the quality of your education.

WHY CHOOSE OUR PROGRAM?

- CPP tuition costs have been drastically reduced to make the program more affordable while reducing the hassle involved with scholarship applications. Fees and down payments have been waived. (See the Cost Sheet for details.)
- Financial Aid is available from many federal and state sources for qualified students.
- The highest accreditation level possible applies to all NU degrees and majors.
- Previous credits can be used from Running Start, community colleges, and universities, with the possibility of credits from life experience and institutions without regional accreditation.
- Two- and four-year degrees are delivered through online and in-person courses.
- NU and local faculty and staff guide and support you throughout your program.
