

Open Positions

Internships

Premier Media Group offers production internships (design and editorial) year-round. Internships typically run 10-25 hours per week for 3 months at a time. Production interns gain real-world experience in publishing, design and journalism. A small stipend plus fun work perks are included in our internship programs.

Editorial intern: Applicants should have strong writing skills, intellectual curiosity and possess the ability to tell a story. Successful candidates must understand the importance of deadlines, teamwork and independent thinking. Coursework in journalism, communications, marketing and writing are helpful, but not required. This position is best fit for students at the junior or senior level or recent college graduates. Duties include blog posts, research, copy editing, copy writing, fact checking and potential feature writing. Please submit cover letter, resume and 3-5 examples of your written work to deputy editor ethan@425magazine.com.

Design intern: Applicants must be familiar with Adobe Suite, especially InDesign. Familiarity with the online WordPress platform is also preferred. Applicant may assist in designing magazine pages, uploading content to magazine websites, create PDFs and design ads, logos, internal marketing materials and more. Applicants should be college juniors, seniors or recent graduates. Prior design experience in school or at another internship is preferred. To apply, please submit cover letter, resume and examples of your work to kirsten@425magazine.com.
