

Verification of Individual Counseling Experience

Dear Psychologist,

Students in the Doctor of Psychology Program at Northwest University must participate in at least 10 hours of individual counseling prior to the completion of their first year of the program.

These requirements are based on a philosophy that values self-awareness that such experiences can bring to counselors in training.

Students must provide written verification of their individual counseling experiences to the Psy.D. Program Coordinator prior to completion of the first year. In accordance with the American Psychological Association Ethical Principles, specifics of the experiences should not be disclosed. We appreciate your assistance in this process. The College of Social and Behavioral Sciences will not retain this form or copies of this form but will record completion of the requirements in the student's file and return the form to the student.
